CHAMPIONS TAKE THE LEAD.

BROOKLYNS WIN THEIR POURTE STRAIGHT GAME PROM BOSTON. New Yorks Help Hanlon's Hen by Reefly Beating the Philadelphias -Cincinnati Puts St. Louis in Last Place-Chicago Beats Pitteburg in Fourteen Innings-Other Cames. After a long stern chase the champion Brookires have at last wrested the lead in the race for the League pennant from the Philadelphias The Champions won their fourth straight game from the Bostons at the Hub yesterday and also scored their ninth consecutive victory. They forged ahead of the Philadelphias and hold first place this morning by a margin of fourteen points. The Quakers were easily beaten by the New Yorks, who, incidentally place, as Cincinnati's triumph over the St. Louis cripples put the latter into the tail-end notch. The Chicagos won the longest same of the season so far from the Pitteburgs, the score being 1 to 0 after fourteen innings had been played. The Chicagos also jumped into third place. The results:

ros. June 19 .- Long's error in the first, coupled with the weak pitching of Willis, asested Brooklyn in making it four straight today. The visitors scored five runs in the first on three bases on balls, Long's error and Daly's home run over left field fence. The home team did not seem to try with such a handicap loomint up before them, but got a couple of runs in the fourth on Tenner's single and Long's home run. In the sixth, singles by Stahl, Long, Freeman's out and Lowe's safe one brought in two more. The score:

The game is a record for the National League this year and not in year thas so long a game been played which entry one thiny bring secred. Besides pitehing magnineent ball. Griffith won his own game in the fourteenth inning. With two out and a man on first he fit to left. The ball struck within two feet of the foul line and bounded sharply across it. Clingman had started from first as soon as the ball was bit and he ran all the way home. Waddell pitched a steat game, striking out twelve men, but he allowed eith bases on balls, and one of those cost the game. The home team looked like a winner in the tenth inning when, after two outs, Childs hit a grounder to Eliz, Clingman ran home from third, Griffith dancing in front of the shortstop and caust is him to lumble. Hurst called the Chicago man out for interieng with the play. On both sides the fulling was last and clean, Clingman and McCormick particulating themselves by brilliant one-hand the Rowdy Ball Player Punished.

The American League, of which Ban Johnso s President, has taken the initiative in the matter, living up to its rules by suspending a player for using foul language on the ball field. George Stallings, manager of the Detroit club, who occasionally plays an outfield position, is the man who was punished. He was suspended for ten days.

FTRACA, June 19.—After the game with the Indians to-day Cornell's baseball team and to choose a new captain for next year. The unanimous choice of the team was Edward Livingston Robertson of St. Louis, Ma. Robertson is a member of the junior class in law, and has played on the Cornell baseball team for two years. Last year he played at second base, but early in the present season Coach Jennings transferred him to first, and he has occupied this position all of the present season. Robertson is one of the most popular men in his class.

HARVARD'S PAST TIME ROW. Crimson Eight Clocked Over the Course in 20 Minutes 32 Seconds. GALES FERRY, June 19 .- At Harvard's quarters the fast time made by the Yale 'Varsity eight on Monday night over the four-mile course, 20 minutes 36 seconds, was the chief topic for discussion. The placid river was too tempting for Coach Storrow this evening and about 6:30 o'clock he ordered the 'Varsity crew to get ready for another four-mile pull.

It was just 6:51:45 when the oars dipped, and the stroke was kept up for half a mile at a 32 dip. Capt. Higginson then lowered the stroke tire distance. The first half mile was covered in 2 minutes 24 seconds, the eight rowed with scarcely any splashing, their bodies swinging in unison and their pacing being very even.

any splashing, their bodies swinging in unison and their pacing being very even. The time caught at the big drawbridge down at the finish line when come ared with the watches here showed the boat had travelled the four miles in 20 minutes and 32 seconds.

This record is the fastest made this year by either Yale or Harvard. The New Haven Varsity crew last night was favored with a light northeasterly breeze and out-going tide. The Harvard eight to-night had the tide in their favor, but there was no wind whatever. Harvard's stock has gone up again as a result of the time row to-night and it is up to Yale to show something better.

That Yale has a crew equally as fast as Harvard, if not faster, for a short distance at least, was well illustrated this evening. The Harvard boat had been speeding over the course but a quarter of an hour when the big Eli crew rowed from the boathouse and lined up at the starting stake. The shell was unattended, the coaches being down the river with the freshman crew. The boat lingered but a moment and then suddenly started rapidly down the course. There was no need of taking the time of the first half mile, as Coxwain Chittenden very kindly but inadvertently yelled at the half-mile post:

"Two twenty-two and a half. Now for the second half." The little coxwain evidently misjudged the distance his voice could be wafted on a caim evening. All the waiters, boat-riggers and help in general who were lat Red Top rushed out to ascertain what boat was travelling a half-mile at such speed.

The Varsity crew went down the course but a short distance, when the launch and freshmen were met and the boats returned to quarters. The Yale freshmen are reported to have rowed the two miles down stream to-night in 10 minutes 25 seconds. Harvard's two four-oared crews had a brush for two miles, the time being about 12 minutes, with the 'Varsity boat a few seconds in the lead. The Harvard freshmen also came in for their share of racing and rowed two miles in 10 minutes and 28 seconds.

Hanlan Helping to Coach the Columbia Crews POUGEREEPSIE, June 19.-Edward Hanlan, the professional oarsman, has been called in at the eleventh hour to infuse into the Columbia eights the leaven of his skill and experience, ping that even in the brief period left before the Poughkeepsie regatta something may be done for the credit of the university by her brawny sons. Hanlan will give particular attention to the freshmen, who are a scrappy bunch, and will extend whatever help is requested by Coach Meikleham in the development of the senior crew. Upon Hanlan's arrival this morning he was met by a crowd of undergraduates and escorted to the Columbia undergraduates and escorted to the Columbia launch. A few minutes later he was interested in the work of the two crews as they rowed along ahead of the launch.

After a five-mile pull the two eights returned to the boathouse at Fox's Point and Hanian was introduced to the 'Varsity oarsmen. He got down to business at once. Off went his blue serge suit and donning a blue and white Jersey and a pair of trunks with a broad-brimmed straw hat of the vintage of '76 to complete the outfit he jumped into the freshmen's shell, taking Stroke Orr's seat. He started the youngsters off at a 30 stroke and kept the boys moving along while he conched them on individual faults.

The friends of Columbia feel that in Hanian they have a man who knows his own mind on the subject of rowing, and that whatever instructions he may be permitted to give will be consistent.

FOAM STAKES FOR DUBLIN. IMPORTED COLT WINS CLEVERLY AT SHEEPSHEAD BAY,

Voter, Another Importation, Romps Away With the First of the June Handicap -Elizabeth M., Native, Rush and Intrustve Earn Brackets in the Other Events Weather, track and entries were all in favor of good sport at the Coney Island Jockey Club's picturesque enclosure yesterday and the attendance was proportionately liberal.

A rattling good field of two-year-olds turned out for the Foam Stakes, with $1,500 added, over the last five furlongs of the Futurity course. The only withdrawal was Arthur Featherstone's promising colt Black Fox, while the added ones included J. L. Holland's Lief Prince, J. E. Madden's Longshoreman and the Morris Brothers Smile. The last named was coupled in the betting with his stablemate, Fake, and the pair went to the post equal favorites with Walden & Sons' Contend. W. C. Whitney's candidate, The Rhymer, at 30 to 1, showed early speed, but soon gave way to Contend and Sweet Lavender. The latter reached the elbow first, but Dublin rushed up from ninth position so fast that McCue found some trouble in steering a clear course. The imported colt jammed his way through like a cavalry horse, and running truly to the end cavalry horse, and running truly to the end won out by a length from Sweet Lavender, who beat Longshoreman a head. Littlefield alleged interference and seemed to have some grounds for his trip to the stewards, but he was hissed soundly for his pains, while McCue was cheered during his interview with the officials. The numbers, were allowed to stand as originally hung up.

The presence of Voter and Bendoran at the head of the Coney Island handicap caused a regular stampede among the others and eight of the thirteen engaged were withdrawn. The course yesterday was six furlongs on the main track, and as the distance seemed to suit Voter, the imported, son of Friars Balsam ruled favorite 1t to 10. Bendoran's edds dropped quickly from 4 to 1 to 3 to 1. Bendoran was quickest on his toes when the flag fell, but Lady Uncas quickly beat the Sir Modred flyer at his own game and set a clipping pace for half a mile. Spencer kept within hall with the lavorite and, letting out a wrap on the home turn. left the others anchored. Voter was at his case and won handly by three lengths, while Lady Uncas hung on long enough to beat Bendoran a length and a half.

long enough to beat Bendoran a length and a half.

Elizabeth M proved her title to consideration among the best of the two-vesr-old class by a runaway victory in the opening race. This was the second e litton of the maiden race run on Futurity Day. The distance then was five furlongs, and Elizabeth M stepped itoff in 1:01 2-5. She shouldered an eight-pound penalty yesterday with half a furlong further to go, but the increase of weight and distance seemed only ostimulate her. She came home under wraps four lengths clear of the second choice, Beau Gallant, who beat Ginki three lengths. W. Lakeland's useful froquois gelding. Native, at false odds, played with the two favorites in the second race and won on the bit in time pretty close to Irish Reel's track record of 1:19 2-5. The one-mile race for mares, which followed the two-stake features, was signalized 1:19 2-5. The one-mile race for mares, which followed the two-stake features, was signalized by the impressive victory of Rush. W. C. Whitney's grand four-year-old mare. She shook off the improving May Hempstead on the back stretch and galloped home three lengths in front of the Patron mare. Practically everybody back of the judges' stand thought Merit finished third, but that position was awarded to Iroquois Belle.

Intrusive ran a fine race in the handicap over the furf course and easily disposed of the favorthe turf course and ea ily disposed of the favor-ite, Maximo Gomez. Prince McClurg ran very wide at the home turn, but came again strongly and ran the favorite to a neck. Summary:

BELMONT'S 70-FOOTER DEFEATS HER MATE, THE RAINBOW. on at the Start of the New York Tacht

Club's Regatta on the Sound Narrowly Averted-America Takes Another Race From the Quissetta-Syco Wins Two Races The Mineola, Vice-Commodore August Belnont's new 70-footer, won her second race from Cornelius Vanderbilt's Rainbow yesterday on the Sound. It was a race arranged for the Glen Cove cup given by the New York Yacht esting contests sailed this year. The race was started in a fresh breeze from the east. The yachte sailed twice around a triangular course fifteen miles in length. The first leg was to windward, and when this had been sailed half over the wind hauled a little more to the south ard, but not enough to give either boat any material advantage. The second leg was a run and the third leg a broad reach. On the second round the wind hauled back to the eastsecond leg a reach and the third a run.

The Mineola proved to be the better boat on the wind. On the first leg of the first round, which was six miles, she beat the Rainbow 3 minutes 3 seconds, and on the same leg of the second round she was 7 minutes 20 seconds laster. Reaching and running the two boats were very evenly matched, and in the end the Mineola won by 11 minutes 42 seconds.

When the tug Walter F. Luckenbach, bearing the Regatta Committee reached Matinicock liminary signal was fired. The first leg of the course east by north to a mark, one and a quarer miles west by north from Lloyd's Point which meant a beat for the yachts.

The single-masted vessels were to start ten minutes after the preparatory signal and just pefore this starting gun was fired the Mineola and Rainbow very nearly collided. Both yachts were south of the line. The Rainbow was on the starboard tack, it evidently being the inention of Capt. Parker to take her over the line past the stern of the committee boat. The past the stern of the committee boat. The Mineola was coming from the west on the port tack. She headed to the outside of the committee boat to go about and cross at the windward end of the line. Capt. Wrings seemed to think that he could bluff the Rainbow out of her position and force that boat to leeward of the committee boat. Capt. Parker held on his course and it looked as though the Rainbow would cut the Mineola down, but just when a collision seemed inevitable the Rainbow uniffed up and crossed the bow of the committee boat while the Mineola bore off and tacking crossed the line first at the windward end.

of the committee boat while the Mineola bore off and tacking crossed the line first at the windward end.

The Rainbow wore around and went over at the leeward end of the line forty-nine seconds after the Mineola. Both yachts stood out into the sound on the starboard tack. Each carried club topsail, mainsail, jib. fore staysail and small jib topsail and for a few minntes it looked as though the Rainbow was fast making up what she had lost by pulling out to windward, but when the Mincola got fairly at work she showed her superiority. They held on the starboard tack for fourteen minutes and then tacked, heading in shore. Under the Long Islands to the wind was a little fresher from east southeast.

They worked along the shore in short tacks until clear of Oyster Bay and then stood for the mark, where they were timed. Mineola, 1:16:25; Rainbow, 1:20:17. The Mineola had taken 1 hour 5 minutes 47 seconds to beat the six miles, and the Rainbow 1 hour 8 minutes 50 seconds. The Mineola had gained on this leg 3 minutes 3 seconds. It was a run with spinnakers to starboard for the next mark, and the Rainbow picked up a little. The times taken as they rounded were: Mineola, 1:4:30; Rainbow, 1:47:29. This leg was four miles northwest, and the elapsed times of the two yachts were: Mineola, 28 minutes 5 seconds: Rainbow, 27 minutes 22 seconds, so that the Rainbow had gained 43 seconds.

They gybed at this mark and reached with booms to starboard home. They were timed at the end of the first round: Mineola, 2:12:53; Rainbow, 2:17:33. The third leg was five mise

They gybed at this mark and reached with booms to starboard home. They were timed at the end of the first round: Mineola. 2:12:53; Rainbow, 2:17:33. The third leg was five miles southwest, three-quarters south, and the elapsed times were: Mineola, 28 minutes 23 seconds: Rainbow, 29 minutes 54 seconds: so that on the reach the Mineola had gained 1 minute 31 seconds. The Mineola's gain on the first round was 3 minutes 51 seconds.

On the second round the Mineola stood in shore and worked along the beach while the Rainbow made a long leg out into the Sound and then stood in. This tack proved disastrous to Vanderbilt's boat, as the Mineola by keeping in shore lost the force of the tide and made a big sain. At the first mark the Iwo yachts were time; Mineola, 3:14:10; Rainbow, 3:26:00, showing a gain the wind hauled east by north and spinnaker the wind hauled east by north and spinnakers had to be taken in and booms gybed over. At the second mark the Rainbow had picked up 2 minutes 5 seconds. They set spinnakers for the run home and the net gain of the Mineola over the Rainbow was 2 minutes 46 seconds.

The Amorita and Quissetta sailed over the same course. The former started about two lengths in the lead and at once began to pull away. At the windward mark she had gained 2 minutes 42 seconds, but an the run to the next mark the Quissetta gained 8 seconds, and on the reach to therhome mark she gained 35 seconds, so that at the end of the first round the Amorita led by 1 minute 59 seconds. However, the Amorita increased her lead on the second of the Quissetta, easily saving her time allowance.

The Syce and Hussar II. met again and the Syce won by more than half an hour. She also raced against the Queen Mab for a special prize, receiving an allowance of 16 minutes 10 seconds. Although the Queen Mab finished first she was not far enough ahead to win the race.

first she was not far enough ahead to win the race.

A special race was arranged between the soop Vigilant and the schooner Corona, the Vigilant to allow the Corona five minutes. This is less than half the proper allowance according to the rules. As the Vigilant had lost her centreboard it was agreed that the torona should not use hers. The Vigilant finished 10 minutes and 4 seconds ahead of the Corona and won with 5 minutes and 4 seconds to spare.

In the cruising schooner class the Katrina won handily, and in the special race the Latona beat the Wayward. The 30-footers sailed a close race, going once over the course, and the Waywa won. S. Nicholson Kane, the chairman of the Regatta Committee, was assisted by John F. Lovejoy and George Cormack. The summary:

He also secured fourth place in the high Jump, seering 18 points for his class.

NEWS OF THE WHEELMEN. A Good Roads Clause in the Platform of the Republican Party.

The L. A. W., pioneer in the good ronds cause, when it caused to be introduced tato Congress a bill appropriating $5,000,000 for highway intprovement. This was a start on a campaign passage of time. It was an important move, but there has been a greater one made since. H. B. Fullerton, chairman of the Committee on Highway Improvement of the L. A. W., accompanied by Counsellor John B. Uhle and William S. Bull, returned to this city yesterday from an effort to get a "good roads plank" inserted in the platform of the Republican party. Chairman Fullerton announced that they had been successful. They had conferred with Gov Roosevelt, Collector George R. Bidwell, Lieut. Gov. Woodruff, Lemuel Quigg and Gen. John B Foraker on the subject and they had received assurance from Gen. Foraker that the final platform. The presentation of the plank was left to Mr. Quigg, the New York member of the Committee on Resolutions, of which Gen. Foraker is chairman. The L. A. W. Committee left several drafts of resolutions as a guide for the wording of the plank. These declare in favor of there being national support and promotion of public highways. The committeemen said yesterday that as representatives of the L. A. W. they were received "not only courte-ously, but with distinguished consideration."

the L. A. W. they were received "not only courteously, but with distinguished consideration."

There is much that is interesting in connection with the defeat of Jimmy Michael by Burns Pierce at the Charles River track on Monday that was not apparent in the bare facts sent over the telegraph wire. According to spectators Michael rode a great race and was beaten by only about 200 yards. He lost his pace in one of the turns during the seventeeth mile, because when he called to the motor man to "let it out" the latter did it suddenly and jumped the machine away from the "midget." There are two or three things in relation to this first race of the little Welshman after his two years' absence that are noteworthy. In the first place the twenty miles was ridden in 34 minutes and 20 3-5 seconds, and the record is 33 minutes and 20 3-5 seconds. The latter was made behind motor pace, which carre into general use after Michael quit the game in 1898. The fact is that Michael rode faster than any one ever saw him travel twenty miles before. Another point is that Pierce was the wrong man for him on his first tral, because Pierce is one of the hardest propositions in the country, and it is not too much to say that he ranks next to Elkes in ability.
One consolation offered to the lovers of clean sport is that the defeat of Michael was an evidence of the race not being "fixed." It would, undoubtedly, have been worth many hundreds to Michael's managor to have had him win his first race, and had he done so there would have been many to sneer and insinuate fraud. Michael's reputation for honesty is one of the best features of his popularity. The "midget" cannot be said to have "gone back" much when he rides his first race in two years within forty-five seconds of record time for twenty miles.

There is a likely move being made by the Associated Cycling Clubs of Long Island to obtain a shorter cut and a better route to Coney Island for those who go there by way of Eastern Parkway and Washington avenue. It consists of having the one block on Lincoln road from Flatbush avenue to Ocean avenue macadamized, so that riders can cut through from the foot of the brick road at Flatbush avenue instead of running alongside of the troiley cars down to Fort Hamilton avenue before striking over to the cycle path alongside of Prospect Park. The matter was referred to the Public Action Committee of the A. C. C. L. L. at the monthly meeting on Monday night, and as the original suggestion that the association should request the improvement came from official sources, it is expected that it will be attended to speedily. Another improvement undertaken by the association is the improvement of Fourth avenue from Flatbush avenue to Sixtieth street.

The annual twenty-five mile road race of the A. C. C. of L. L. which last year was decided for the first time on the Coney Island cycle path, is to be run over the same course and for the same distance next Labor Day. It is to be known, however, as the Cycle Path Handicap. This was decided upon by George Shannon, chairman of the Race Committee, with the idea of making it a classic event with a distinguishing title.

Patrolman Charles H. Haussler, attached to the bicycle squad of the Fifty-fifth precinct, Brooklyn, yesterday issued a challenge to Roundsman John Schuessler of the bicycle squad of New York, for a series of races for the championship of the Police Department. Haussler is willing to have the first of the series a twenty-mile race with motor pace, and as a distance is presumed to be Schuessler's forte, the contest is expected to be held within three weeks.

COACH SANFORD'S AMATEUR STATUS.

G. Foster Sanford, the Columbia University football coach, who is now in England with the idea of participating in amateur foot races, is likely to have his campaign on the cinder path other side receive the reply to a query as to Sanford's amateur status, which was mailed last night. When Sanford returned to America after his victory, which, according to his statement, netted his supporters more money than ever was won previous over the Boothail Piate race, he suid that the English authorities had investigated his connection as coach for Columbia and decided that he was in the same category as C. N. Jackson, the Oxford Don who advises the dark blue contingent on athletic matters, and that as he did not play in football games nor perform the ordinary duties of a trainer in the English acceptance of the word, by rubbing the mea down, he was not a professional.

This decision was it is presumed, made before Sanford's victory in the big betting race, which in all trobability led to doubts as to the purity of his amateur motives. At any rate, Secretary James E. Smilivin of the A. A. U., received by the last mail the following inquiry from C. Herbert, Secretary of the English A. A. A. I. Is G. F. Sanford, the old Yate man, entitled to run as an amateur under your laws, and what has be done to forfeit his amateur status?

In answer to the above the A. A. U. secretary stated that Sanford is not an amateur, but a professional employed by Columbia University, where he acts as a football coach. The letter also stated that Sanford had played cootball on professional teams in this consulty and that the A. A. U. had refused his application to be registered as an amateur at hiete.

Although there is no alliance between the to his statement, netted his supporters the A. A. U. had refused his application to be registered as an amateur at hlete.

Although there is no alliance between the English A. A. and the governing body of America, an understanding exists between the two organizations and it is thought that Sanford will be ruled out of future races in England when Secretary Sullivan's letter arrives.
